HORNSILVER LOOMS AS COMING MINING CAMP OF GREATNESS

BY J. M. FENWICK.

An increasing volume of inquiries and a noticeable awakening of interest in the Hornsilver Mining district, prompts the following suggestions.

Hornsilver lies about 30 miles south of Goldfield in Esmeralda county. The camp is reached via Goldfield from the north and by way of Lida from the south. The road generally taken by passenger cars is the Bonanza Highway (Midland Trail) to Rays abandoned camp, about one-half mile beyond which there is a cut-off that goes direct to Hornsilver. Drivers should keep the road to the left from Rays camp, lying at the foot of Jackson Mountain which stands out by itself on the plains and is conspicuous for many miles in all directions. There are signboards where the road turns to Hornsilver and there should be no difficulty in keeping on the right road. This road measures 32 miles. The truck road from Goldfield by way of Caprite is several miles shorter and since the recent storms is said to be in good condition and better traveling than the Midland Trail. Signboards indicate the point where the Hornsilver road turns off to the right from the road to Beatty.

Quite a number of inquiries are received concerning employment and working conditions there. It seems appropriate to advise persons seeking employment not to go to Hornsilver for the present as all the string of men is done in Goldfield and Tonopah and the jobs naturally go to men who are already known to the employers.

For a man with a little money or one who is able to procure a grubstake, Hornsilver in my estimation, offers the opportunity of a lifetime. The district is quite extensive and while much of the territory is held under valid locations there are still some splendid openings for a man of energy who will get out and hustle.

For example, I happen to know of a man in Tonopah who was without employment and down to a $7 bank roll with apparently nothing in sight. He was persuaded to see the high and become interested in Hornsilver. With some hustling he was able to acquire a grubstake and after a week spent in the new camp was able to acquire by location a very valuable group of claims with such a showing that he is at the moment in a fair way to finance the camp and begin active operations.

Another case is that of a miner who spent several weeks in the district and by careful measurement and examination was able to locate a valuable fraction that will likely bring him in enough money before the end of the year to keep him for life.

Hornsilver is no longer an experiment or a prospect. The development of the immediate prospects at the Orleans mine by a known depth of eight 100-foot levels, gives positive assurance of the permanency of the camp and the extent of mineralized area, together with the abundant surface showings and high values, insure the development of other big producing mines in the district.

Of course it is not to be expected that every showing will turn out to be a big mine, but anyone who will look over the district can not fail to be convinced that a number of big producing mines will be made.

Accommodations for visitors, either transient or permanent, are exceptionally good. Good, comfortable rooms and beds are available and exceptionally good meals may be had at 75 cents each. The regular board rate is $45 per month. Hornsilver has a postoffice and school and a general store. A number of houses are available for families, as well as stables for men who care to board themselves while prospecting.

I had the opportunity of observing the development of the big Tonopah Divide mining boom from its inception, and to my mind the most noticeable feature of that boom was the fact that the people of Tonopah and Goldfield were the very last of all to see the opportunities that came with that boom and hundreds of claims that might have been acquired at home with a very little energy and at no cost in money, were picked up and located by people from Colorado, Arizona and Montana and other sections. Many of these properties changed hands for real money within a very short time.

The same conditions are developing about Hornsilver. They have a wonderful big gold mine to start with and already outfits have been coming in from Los Angeles and outside sections. A number of deals have been negotiated with substantial cash payments and it seems to me that our own people should profit by the lesson of the Divide, and not let the outsiders get away with everything, and then buy their stocks at the top of the market.

Several copies of the Tonopah Bonanza reach the camp regularly and their coming is anxiously awaited by the people and the old timers are unanimous in proclaiming the Bonanza their best friend.

J. C. PIERCY HOME FROM HIS EXTENDED VISIT

J. C. Piercy, Jr., popular Main street druggist, arrived home this morning from a visit of three weeks in Chicago. While there he enjoyed a visit with his family, and attended the meeting of the vice-presidents of the National Association of the Board of Pharmacy, of which he is one of the officials.

"Conditions in a business way in Chicago are very bad," remarked Mr. Piercy, "but this is due to the fact that the labor unions are in control. Building is practically at a standstill, and much suffering is in evidence from lack of employment. The weather conditions were ideal, however, and I was surprised to find that winter was still continuing in southern Nevada."

Princess Mary, Her New Husband and Replica of Wedding Gown

The wedding of Princess Mary to Lord Lascelles in London proved to be the biggest social event since the coronation of her father, King George, in 1911. These pictures, specially posed, are the most recent of Princess Mary and her husband. The wedding gown and veil are replicas of those worn by Princess Mary in the Westminster Abbey ceremony.

They were made by Rexille of London, Dressmaker to Her Majesty the Queen, imported by the Franklin Simon Company of New York, and are here exhibited by Marion Davies.
